Their clients realize that PSI's solutions represent the best that can be found and their reputation is second to none.

Paschal Solutions says that the Anderson County Chamber of Commerce is an essential part of their team. The Chamber staff, board members and other members are genuinely supportive. They want to see your business thrive and are always ready to help. Paschal Solutions looks forward to participating in future events sponsored by the Anderson County Chamber.

The Anderson County Chamber of Commerce hosted the 7th Annual Tribute to Business Dinner on Friday, June 29, 2018 at The Kincaid House. The event is a way of recognizing businesses in Anderson County and their dedication to the Chamber. This summer event has been held at multiple venues across Anderson County throughout the years.

The night was filled with many joyful moments from dinner to dancing with East Tennessee's finest DJ, Sterl The Pearl. However, the night's most memorable moment went to the five businesses who were being honored for their economic achievements throughout Anderson County and East Tennessee.

Living Classroom Coming to GOES

The students have always had gardens available, with about 10 raised gardens around the school being provided by the Healthy Schools Grant. This new grant will just allow a much more in depth gardening and learning experience for the students. "Our first graders this year are going to plant sunflowers. Our little ones for next year are going to be able to start right off by measuring and dissecting those and looking at their seeds." Another part of the money will go towards getting cacti and along with a plant the students are very excited about, the Venus Fly Trap.

The students will also be planting watermelon, Jack-be-little pumpkins, and a salad garden consisting of baby carrots, radishes, cherry tomatoes and lettuce. Suttle said that Gilliam is in charge of the shopping. Suttle noted that they don't want to cut studying animal life cycles completely and that towards the end of the school year they will be incorporating the study of butterflies into their curriculum. She also said that they plant a lot of Zinnias to attract the butterflies.

Not only will the grant be used for buying plants but also just getting the gardens back in shape. According to Suttle, the gardens haven't had proper soil or mulch in a long time. "We just really appreciate the people that take interest in our school," said Suttle. "They are always so nice and so dependable. It's so nice to be able to renew those gardens." "The idea that you can grow your own food and make the world a better place are tied together and the grant holds me accountable." Suttle pointed out that this is a very timely grant that connects the students and community and that she is excited to "dig deeper."

RS | CH2M Oak Ridge LLC (UCOR), the Department of Energy's (DOE) cleanup contractor for the DOE's Oak Ridge Reservation, has once again awarded several grants to educators all around Anderson County. The grants offered were $500 per classroom and $1000 per school. The grants go towards STEM focused areas – science, technology, engineering, and math. One of these grants was awarded to Sally Suttle and Shasta Gilliam, first grade teachers at Grand Oaks Elementary School in Clinton. Their grant will be put towards providing "A Living Classroom" for their 40 first grade students.

The Living Classroom project is one that is designed to provide a more in depth experience into the plant life cycle. Next year the science standards change which means there will be less teaching animal life cycles and more about plants. "It's going to be plants, plants, plants," said Suttle.

Gym Renovations Begin for CES

The CES gym renovations began on June 4, 2018. When students return in August, they will walk into an upgraded gym facility. The floors will be refinished, a new emblem will be on center court, new bleachers will line the wall, clear backboards will be on both ends of the court, and a fresh coat of paint will brighten up the walls.

This project has taken a year to plan and could not be completed without the generous donations of many businesses, organizations, and community members. The renovations sparked from the creation of the BLAZE which provides a variety of well-rounded activities for Clinton City Schools' students. The support that has been generated from the community has been tremendous. The creation of the well-rounded activities has been beneficial in bringing the three schools together to create an overall positive culture. The well-rounded activities include: basketball, swimming, cross country, and dance. This summer and fall, Blaze will also add a Reading and Science Society to its list of activities. The mission of the Blaze is to capitalize on individual talents and interests in order to develop well-rounded students. We anticipate seeing the activities continue to grow in subsequent years.

Clinton City Schools greatly appreciates all of the generous donors who have given to this project for our students. This upgraded facility will be a great place for our students to grow and develop.

CES Recieves Donation for Teacher Professional Development

Commissioner Chuck Fritts and Commissioner Tracy Wandell (not pictured) from District 1, each presented a check in the amount of $1,000 for a total amount of $2,000, out of their individual Waste Management Accounts, to Claxton Elementary School Principal Jennifer Coleman. The money donated will be used to help the teachers at Claxton Elementary with Teacher Professional Development opportunities for the 2018-2019 school year. Several of the Claxton teachers have expressed an interest in attending conferences that will advance their teaching practices, giving them the knowledge and strategies that will raise our student achievement levels.

Normally the teachers would have to pay these expenses out of their pocket. This joint contribution will help these teachers with this expense.

CO2 Dragster

Students at Clinton Middle School, Lake City Middle School and Norris Middle School will get the chance to put their engineering to the test thanks to a grant for a CO2 Dragster. "In the CO2 dragster project students use the engineering design process to design and create a CO2 cartridge powered dragster car that can travel 20 meters in the shortest amount of time possible," said Madison Jones of Norris Middle. Jones championed the grant.

"I have my students use balsa wood, but I think the other schools may use basswood or pine. Balsa is so much less dense than other types of wood, and that makes for an easier experience when the students are using the band saw to cut out their design," Jones said on the design and makeup of the dragsters.

"While students are able to test their virtual car designs on the computer, with our previous track system students were unable to see the amount of time it takes for their car to go from the starting line to the finish line," Jones said.

She stated that this is significant because without the time, students are unable to calculate the speed of their car. As part of this project, students will be required to use the formula for distance, rate, and time to calculate the speed of each class member's CO2 car.

Students will then compare the speed of the virtual cars they designed on the computer to the physical cars they build in class, determine which car performed best, and draw conclusions explaining their results.

All three schools will share the track. The track is portable and can be set up anywhere, so it will be going back and forth between the schools.

Additionally, two students each year will compete in a statewide Technology Student Association competition, and this track will help them test their car prior to competitions. "There isn't a limit to the number of times the track can be used, so we should be able to use it for many years in the future," said Jones.

ACHS FFA Wins First Place

The Anderson County FFA Chapter competed in and won first place in Tennessee in both the FFA Environmental and Natural Resources and FFA Agronomy Career Development Events on June 9 in Doyle.

The Environmental and Natural Resources (ENR) competition allows students to apply classroom knowledge to real-life situations. This event focuses on testing the students' general knowledge, problem solving and decision making skills in environmental and natural resources. These areas concentrate on soil profiles, water and air quality, waste management, environmental analysis, and use of global positioning units.

The Agronomy competition allows FFA members to demonstrate their skills in solving complex problems related to crop production, agricultural knowledge and skills in the area of Agronomy. Additional activities include crop, weed, insect and seed identification, crop disorder identification; crop and seed judging and evaluation; and grain grading. A written examination was included along with a team problem solving competition.

Individually these students excelled as well. In the state ENR contest Emma Johnson was first high individual, Treythan Beaty was fourth high and Desir'ee Burkett was sixth and Nicholas Leach was twelfth high individual overall. In the Agronomy contest the top four individual scores in the state contest were all Anderson County students. Wesley Zemke was first, Jordan Bowling was second, Tamara Heath was third and Jessica Kiser was fourth.

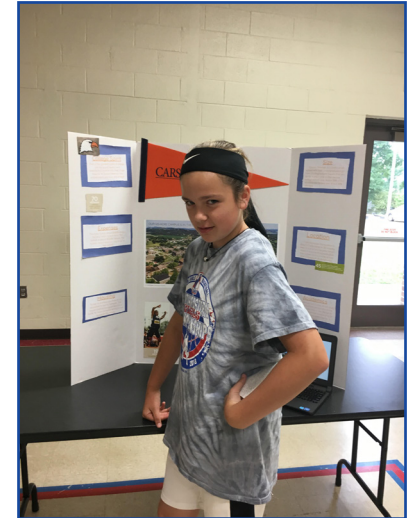

These two teams will compete in October 2018 in their respective national contest. Both teams are coached by Anderson County FFA Advisor Philip Warfield.

Students Host College Fair at SCES

Fifth grade enrichment students hosted a College Fair at South Clinton Elementary School. Mrs. Amanda Patterson worked with students for nine weeks in preparation for the big day. Students researched colleges and universities and created a presentation to communicate critical information to students regarding their institution. Students in both fourth and fifth grade classrooms attended the College Fair to learn more about college options available. Jack Parker, from Roane State Community College, also attended the fair. SCES students did a terrific job researching and presenting their results at this event. This is one of the many college and career readiness activities that occur throughout all three Clinton City Schools.

CCS Safety Patrol Takes on Washington D.C.

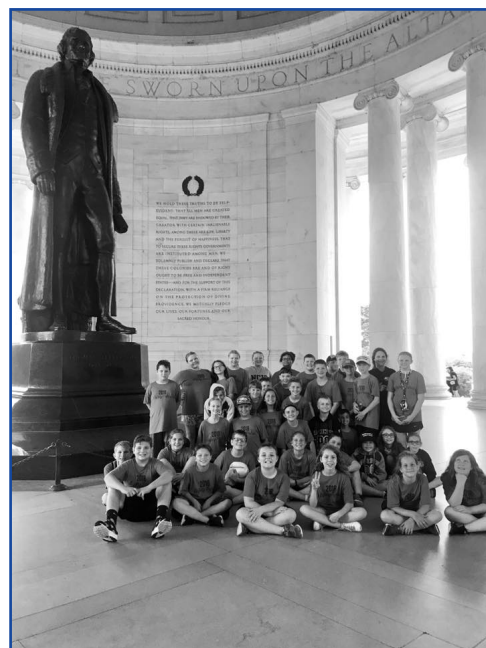

On June 1st, thirty-nine fifth grade students headed to Washington, DC for the annual Safety Patrol Trip with Gentry Trailways. All of the students that participated were actively involved in Safety Patrol at their schools helping with arrival and dismissal each morning. Five chaperones accompanied them including Megan Amos, Kelley Adkins, Erin Collier, Abbey Kidwell, and Rebecca Sharp. Sgt. Brad Kidwell and Nurse Nichole Britton traveled with the group to ensure safety and security.

When students arrived in the nation's capital, they enjoyed the Hard Rock Cafe for dinner. On the second day, they enjoyed visits to the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial and Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial, National Cathedral, Ford's Theater, Ronald Reagan Building, and toured the monuments and memorials in the D.C. area. The students also enjoyed a self guided tour through the White House.

The third day was action packed with students starting off their day touring George Washington's home Mount Vernon. Later in the day, the students enjoyed visiting the Smithsonian National Zoo. The group had the honor of viewing a wreath ceremony at Arlington National Cemetery.

Before heading back to Clinton on the last day, the group had other exciting stops on their tour. They participated in a tour of the Capitol Complex arranged through Lamar Alexander's Office. The students had an opportunity to visit the Smithsonian Museums along the National Mall before heading home that night. Clinton City Schools would like to thank all of the chaperones, Gentry Trailways, and the parents for making this trip possible.

CMS Hawks Helping Others

For the second year in a row, Clinton Middle School, in association with the student-led club Hawks Helping Others, has partnered with Second Harvest of East Tennessee and Zion Baptist Church of Powell to bag and deliver food items for children and families in all of the communities CMS serves each week of summer vacation.

Students and staff stayed at school on May 24, on the first official day of vacation, to welcome the Second Harvest truck. Students displayed "welcome" signs and worked with CMS staff and administration to unload, separate, and bag two pallets worth of food items covering all four food groups.

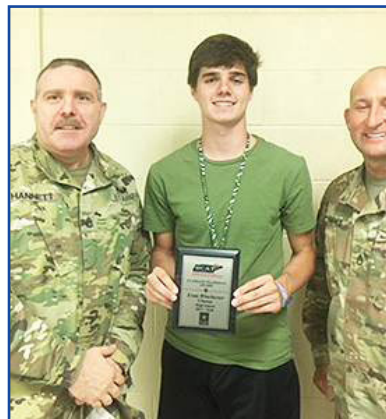

According to a statement from Hawks Helping Others, "Second Harvest of East Tennessee makes it easy for schools to get food for kids in need. It is basically the same premise as the 'Backpack Program' we run throughout the year, which provides food once each week."

"Last year this was organized through Sam Compton of Second Harvest. We contacted him again this year to see if the same program was still available and luckily it was available. This type of service is good for many reasons. Putting food into the hands of students is wonderful. Seeing the students and talking to their families builds relationships between the school, students, and families."

The food will be distributed throughout the summer and can feed 100 children per week. It is to be delivered each Wednesday afternoon by CMS staff and other volunteers.

CHS Student Receives Teammate Award

Evan Winchester was recently awarded the U.S. Army Ultimate Teammate Award for Basketball sponsored by the Basketball Coaches Association of Tennessee. He was selected by three basketball coaches at CHS--Mr. Chris Lockard and Mrs. Alicia Phillips. These students excel in academics as well as on the basketball court. Pictured with Winchester are SSG Corey Barnes and SGT Mark Hannett of the local U.S. Army Recruiting Center in Oak Ridge.

6th Grade Environmental Science Camp

It's one of the highlights of the sixth-grade year! Students pack up for a 3-day/2-night adventure of a lifetime at Clyde York 4-H Camp in Crossville. For many students, this is their first camp experience away from home.

As part of the camp experience, students swim, hike, play games, and participate in a variety of classes. They learn about forestry, food chains, habitats, ecosystems, and much more. One of the major advantages to this camp experience is the bond that is created between students at all three schools and the teachers. Playing games, eating, learning, and laughing together allows both students and teachers to see a different side of each other. When the bus pulled back in, students and teachers were exhausted, and the parents were very excited to have their children back home!

Tribute to Business Dinner

Holley Gamble Funeral Home was awarded the Small Business Excellence Award. This local business has an extensive history in Anderson County that dates all the way back to more than a century. Paul Holley was the original owner until 1963 when long-time employee, Andy Gamble bought the business. Since then, Holley Gamble Funeral Home has successfully been in operation for almost nine decades. After the passing of Andy Gamble, John Gamble has kept Holley Gamble a family business with an addition of Grandview Memorial Gardens and a second Holley Gamble Funeral Home located in Rocky Top.

Thermocopy Tennessee took home the Mid-Size Business Excellence Award. Founded in 1964, Thermocopy's headquarters is located Knoxville. Thermocopy Tennessee is the largest technology company in the East Tennessee area, offering the latest digital office equipment and software solutions to help businesses best manage their office environment.

Consolidated Nuclear Security Y-12 was awarded the Large-Size Business Excellence Award. More than 4700 people are employed fulltime by CNS at the Y-12 National Security Complex and around 1500 subcontractors and federal employees are on site daily.

Hoskins Drug Store received the Woman-Owned Business Excellence Award. Hoskins Drug Store was first opened in 1930 in downtown Clinton, TN. In the years prior to TVA and the Manhattan Project, RC Hoskins opened his doors on Market Street. Throughout the years, Hoskins continued to open stores throughout Anderson County that catered to the specific needs of the communities. RC and Katherine Hoskins ran a business that saw many changes in history occur within the walls of stores. They successfully evolved to meet needs of newer generations. Today, Hoskins Drug Store is owned by their daughters, Dudley Hoskins Bostic and Mollie Hoskins Scarbrough.

Lone Mountain Travel Dream Vacations took home this year's newest addition to the awards, the Veteran-Owned Business Excellence Award. Owned by Scott and Kathy Chippindale, Lone Mountain Travel Agency was established in Clinton in 2016. Lone Mountain Travel is a full service travel agency that offers vacations on every major cruise line, Disney properties, and resorts around the globe. Scott and Kathy are thankful to live in a community that appreciates veterans.

The Anderson County Chamber of Commerce would like to thank Melissa Charles, owner of the Kincaid House, for being the Platinum Sponsor of the 7th Annual Tribute to Business Dinner along with co-hosting the event at The Kincaid House. Additionally, the Chamber would like to thank the following event sponsors: Gold- All Occasions Party Rentals; Silver- Constellation Brands, Jim Charles with Edward Jones, MBI, ORAU, ORUD, Joey Smith with Sellers Realty, Techmer PM, Thermocopy East Tennessee, and Y-12 Federal Credit Union; Bronze- Ace Hardware Store of Clinton, Food City, MAG USA, Methodist Medical Center of Oak Ridge, Miller Hollow Farm, and Paschal Solutions, Inc.

Congratulations to all this year's Business Excellence Awards!
